

BEST FOR A DIGITAL DETOX
CASTAWAY ISLAND, FIJI

The name says it all. On Castaway Island, one of the Mamanuca Island group 30 kilometres off Fiji's main island Viti Levu, you can cast away all your electronics and truly live in the moment. Here there is no provision for television, phones or wifi in the bures. Castaway is the ideal holiday destination for those who want to disconnect from technology and reconnect with their family and friends. Though if you really need to update your social media, wifi is available at the two main restaurants and bars. Here, there are two pools – one for adults with a swim-up bar and jacuzzi and one for families with pool toys, a mocktail bar and shade cloth.

There's an array of free water activities from snorkelling to windsurfing available on the white-sanded beach. The resort also contains a tennis court, running track and beach volleyball court. Guests can combine a family holiday with educational experiences around the resort's environmental programs including reef conservation initiative OZONE, where they can help to build a fish sanctuary, one coral head at a time. castawayfiji.com.

BEST FOR ADVENTURE
MATAFONUVA, TONGA

Think unspoiled beaches where below the water lies incredible sea life that you can explore by snorkelling or scuba diving. Think viewing humpback whales and their calves as they migrate.

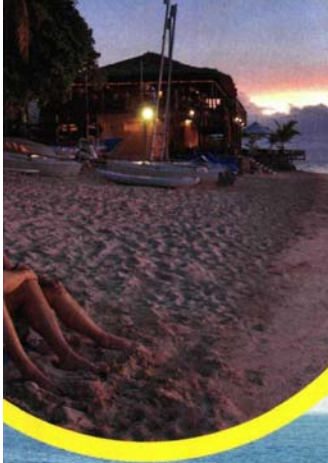

Welcome to Matafonua Lodge, a glorious slice of heaven located in the elbow of Ha'ano and Foa islands in Tonga. Matafonua Lodge and sister property Sandy Beach Resort are situated 400 metres apart on one of the South Pacific's most beautiful beaches. Matafonua is more of a family-friendly resort with private beachfront fales (thatched huts) set in tropical gardens.

A highlight is watching whales up-close and swimming with and learning about them as they frolic on daily trips. Be sure to bring your camera – and a sense of adventure. matafonua.com.

BEST FOR A DESTINATION WEDDING
OUTRIGGER FIJI BEACH RESORT

Gather your friends and family for a wedding to remember for eternity at Outrigger Fiji Beach Resort. Set on a white beach among 15ha of lush gardens, it's a popular location. And there is a strict rule that makes it even more appealing. Only one wedding is to be held on any one day so that the betrothed have full use of all of the resort's facilities and services. Couples who wish to embrace local culture have the option of choosing a traditional Fijian ceremony in authentic dress. There's a chapel onsite – the hilltop Bure Ni Loloma chapel – as well as spectacular backdrops for photography.

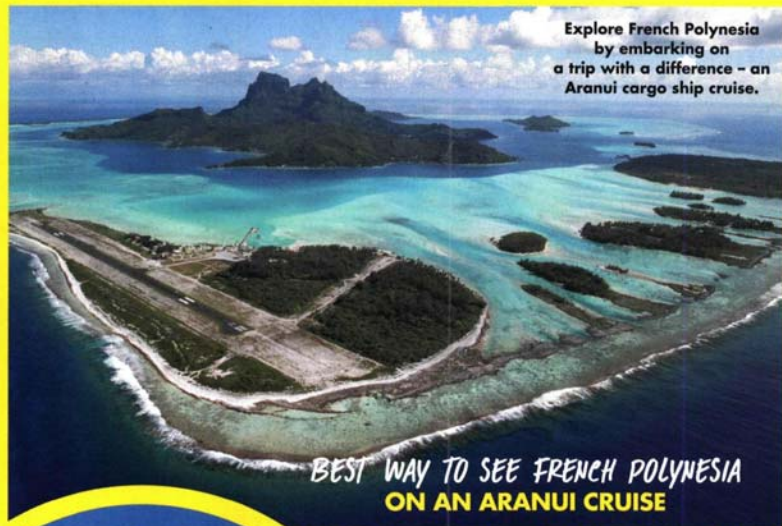

One of the reasons for its popularity (other than being very affordable compared to getting married in Australia) is that wedding guests can combine a holiday and have the enjoyment of two great experiences – a South Pacific wedding and a family vacation. Another reason? The food and service here are second to none. The resort has a range of wedding packages. outriggerfiji.com.
